To the Honorable the Legislature:

Section 560.55 Wis. Stats., requires the Department of Development to submit the enclosed evaluation of the state entrepreneurial assistance network to the governor and to the chief clerk of each house of the legislature for distribution to the legislature under s. 13.172(2).

To conduct the 1993 evaluation, the Department's Entrepreneurial Assistance Network Program (EANP) surveyed 90 programs that provide business assistance in Wisconsin and 99 percent responded. The EANP is designed to improve the start-up and success rates of entrepreneurial firms in Wisconsin by coordinating assistance to entrepreneurs. The main findings and recommendations of the evaluation are as follows:

The state network for entrepreneurial assistance is a well-developed system that is actively used by the staff of state government assistance programs. Providers predominantly serve businesses in the first stages of development. While some survey respondents cited entrepreneurs' lack of business skills as an impediment to successful entrepreneurial activity, providers did not report difficulty finding referrals for general business assistance. The state offers almost 50 programs that provide some type of basic business assistance.

The single most-often identified problem for businesses in the overall entrepreneurial climate in Wisconsin was obtaining small amounts of capital. In addition, survey responses revealed a need for outreach to very specialized assistance programs and to those located in agencies with missions unrelated to business assistance. When asked what they thought would improve Wisconsin's network of entrepreneurial assistance, respondents requested more contact with each other and information about other programs.

The Entrepreneurial Assistance Network Program in the Department of Development has in place several current and future activities that address needs illustrated by the survey.

- * A regular lunch-time information series that offers state government assistance providers both the opportunity to learn more about specific topics and to network one-on-one.
- * A "Ready Reference" menu of state government assistance programs. The menu will afford assistance providers an at-a-glance overview of programs, services offered and contact people.

- * A "Round Table" of state government assistance providers to consider challenges to entrepreneurialism in Wisconsin and to develop strategies to improve the state's entrepreneurial climate and assistance from state government.

The survey identified two matters for consideration by the Round Table:

1. The need of entrepreneurs for small amounts of capital.
2. The need for additional outreach to providers with specialized assistance programs in order to offer them increased access to the larger assistance network.

Two existing entrepreneurial services provided by the DOD are well-known and frequently-used. Of respondents outside the DOD, 81 percent were aware of the Department's toll-free business assistance telephone number, 1-800-HELP BUS and 60 percent referred clients to it in the past year. Likewise, 74 percent were aware of the DOD's Entrepreneurial Resource Series and 65 percent had these publications.

If you have any questions regarding the evaluation please contact Cheryl Gain at 267-9384. Thank you.

Sincerely,

ROBERT N. TRUNZO

October 22, 1993

To the Honorable the Assembly:

Pursuant to the provisions of s. 227.24(1)(e)2, Stats., the following fiscal estimate with respect to the Emergency Rules (ERB) recently adopted by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission is herewith submitted for your consideration.

Emergency rules ERB 33 have no fiscal effect independent from 1993 Wisconsin Act 16. Once the Commission can evaluate the manner in which 1993 Wisconsin Act 16 has affected its ability to meet the needs of the parties, the Commission will, if necessary, seek additional resources.

The Commission has no accurate basis for estimating the anticipated fiscal effect of Act 16 or ERB 33 on school districts.

Yours faithfully,
